Special Safety Focus - New Incident Reporting Process

FORGET!

Over the next two months you will be asked to complete two training modules in preparation for the launch of a new system that will replace ClearSight. The first step is ensuring you have a firm understanding of the existing Safety Communication System.

1) 10 minutes

2) It Gives the structure to the role of safety, it gives more clarity to defining positions. it will help me lean on members in other roles to make my safety program better,
3)I think giving clarity to the chain of command in the safety program will help a lot. I think doing these modules really help.

New Incident Reporting Process1.Approximatley how long did it take you to complete the training module?

It took about 45 min to complete only because I was going through this during the day between customers.

2.How do you think what you learned is going to help you? This training module helped by pointing me in the right direction to find the answer to my questions faster. I could find the answer before but it took a little bit longer.

3.What do you think would be helpful for future Safety Leader Training?

It would be helpful to have a mock training section so Future Safety Leaders can practice the process without submitting claims.

New Incident Reporting Process:

-I watched the Training Module and was able to complete it within a timely manner. Feedback has been submitted to the safety committee as well. Actions will be taken to help ensure proper safety within our store while also growing our safety team within the 4 walls.

New Incident Reporting....

Overall it took about 10 minutes to review and complete the learning module.

Going more in depth about requirements for our store safety team, and beyond helps us to understand why we put each person into their specific roles. Moving forward, I'm anxious to find out what is next on the reporting process once we leave ClearSight.

I think one thing that would make it easier for future safety leaders is to have the Safety Group Leaders in each region take a trip to Arizona and complete a course just like our regional safety leader, Ken Jones just did. I think having the hands on learning experience with our corporate team would be very beneficial!

New Incident Reporting Process
3 Feedback Questions

It took me 12 minutes to complete the training.

In a time of crisis, the information that is posted is clear and concise. This helps the Safety Leaders take the right avenues to make sure that all team members are taken care of in case of an incident.

The training was self explanatory and user friendly. The information that was presented was to the point and very easy to understand.

New Incident Reporting

How long did it take to complete this module. About 15 minutes

How do you think what you learned is going to help you. I was all pretty self explanatory. Once we get to use the software I think it will be real east to use and teach to others.

What do you think would be helpful for future. Any new info will be helpful as long as it helps to get reporting faster and that will let us keep our people safer.

New Incident Reporting Process

It took me about 15 minutes to compete the training module. The module was very helpful because it gave me a clear understanding of each section on the Safety Page and how those can help me to be as successful as possible in my Safety Coordinator role. I did not realize that OSHA Training was required for higher level Safety Leaders. I am not sure of the extent of that training, but maybe it would be helpful to the Safety Leaders in the store.
